Legal aid lawyers, volunteers transform lives of at-risk children

Seventeen-year-old "John", who had endured significant trauma early in life, was adopted and struggled with mental health concerns. While in Juvenile Mental Health Court (JMHC), his Hillsborough County circuit court judge recognized that his case had stalled and that he needed additional support to move forward. The judge referred John's case to Crossroads For Florida Kids.

The organization, founded in 2012, trains and utilizes pro bono attorneys to take on complex representations of children in foster care and those facing delinquency charges. Crossroads For Florida Kids received a 2024-25 FFLA Children's Legal Services grant.

By the time of his referral, John no longer trusted that his adoptive parents were acting in his best interest. He resisted services and had developed a reputation for obstinance that only deepened his belief that authority figures were working against him.

Crossroads appointed Richard Anderson as John's Attorney ad Litem alongside an experienced co-counsel as part of their practice of pairing new volunteers with seasoned attorneys. Although it was Anderson's first Crossroads case, he quickly became the attorney that John trusted most, a connection that proved pivotal to the young man's progress.

Richard Anderson

"I made it clear that I was there to represent him and him alone, and that I would always be in his corner—no matter what," Anderson said.

That commitment became the foundation of a relationship built on empathy, consistency, and trauma-informed advocacy. The Crossroads team reframed John's behavior not as defiance but as a predictable response to years of instability, allowing trust and open communication to develop.

With steady support, John began engaging in services, improved his grades, and identified a career goal of becoming an electrical lineman. His attorneys helped him research training programs and secure a job-shadowing opportunity. As his confidence grew, so did his stability—his mental health improved, his academic performance strengthened, and his family relationships began to heal.

John ultimately graduated from JMHC, his charges were FFLA President Ashley N. Sybesma took office July 1, 2025. She is an attorney at The Smith Law Firm in Key West. A graduate of the University of Miami School of Law, she was honored with The Florida Bar's President's Pro Bono Service Award for the 16th Judicial Circuit in 2018. She has previously served as chair of the 16th Circuit Unauthorized Practice of Law Committee and as a longtime member of the 16th Judicial Circuit's Professionalism Committee. In 2020, she was appointed by Governor Ron DeSantis to the 16th Circuit Judicial Nominating Commission. Sybesma has been recognized for her civic involvement and leadership throughout Monroe County, having served as president of the Monroe County Bar Association and a board member of Florida Keys Healthy Start Coalition.

As I reflect on my tenure as FFLA's president this past year, I am proud to report that it has been a year of remarkable achievement for our organization, and there is much more to come!

With increased IOTA funding, FFLA has seen demonstrable growth in our programming. This summer, 47 law students will work as Summer Fellows in legal aid organizations across the state, up from 14 last year (see page 6). We are in the process of creating an Elder Law grant program that we plan to roll out in 2027.

We are also developing a disaster relief program in which grantees will be funded to provide continuing legal education to Voluntary Bar Associations (VBA). Local communities often turn to VBAs for help after a disaster, and we are confident that our grantees have much wisdom to share with them.

FFLA is also continuing our efforts to help grantees build capacity. We have increased our subsidies for legal research and case management services, and we are working on an AI workshop for better office management. Our Loan Repayment Assistance Program has grown, with more than 210 legal aid lawyers applying for loans this year to pay down their law school loans.

Our board and staff remain focused as always on the IOTA rule and the objective standards. It has been an honor to oversee the responsible and transparent management of the funding entrusted to us.

Lastly, I hope to see you at our Annual Award Ceremony and Breakfast on June 18. It will be an uplifting event as always.

Report on Loan Repayment Assistance Program

Maria C. Gonzalez reported on behalf of the Grants Committee and reported that the Grants Committee voted and approved of the staff's recommendation to:

- Rescind $178,813.70 in unused LRAP awards by 29 participants that fully or partially declined their LRAP loans or defaulted prior to their second disbursement.

- Demand repayment from 18 participants totaling $87,338.66.

The Committee also presented two individual requests for

FFLA announces Annual Minimum Distribution pledge

FFLA has announced its first annual minimum IOTA distribution pledge, designed to give grantee organizations a clearer picture of future funding. In March, FFLA notified grantees of a minimum annual pledge of $120 million for calendar years 2027, 2028, and 2029 each.

Going forward, FFLA will provide grantees with a rolling three-year pledge of minimum annual distributions from IOTA collections on or before March 15 every year. The goal is to provide legal aid programs greater financial predictability so they can make more confident decisions about budgeting, staffing and long-term planning.

The program was developed by a work group convened in late 2025 and tasked with exploring its feasibility. After meeting four times and reviewing financial data, projections, and IOTA reserve assessments, the group unanimously recommended that FFLA establish the notification program.

The recommendation was approved and adopted by FFLA's Board.

In March 2026, FFLA issued its first annual notice under the new program, sharing it directly with grantee executive directors and grant managers and posting it to FFLA's Grantee Hub and website, where it is available to the public.

The pledge is designed to stay current. It will be reviewed at least annually, and after each completed year, the three-year window is intended to roll forward so that grantees will consistently have a multi-year outlook rather than waiting year to year.

"By offering as much clarity and advance information as possible, FFLA aims to support thoughtful planning and budgeting, promote organizational stability, and create meaningful opportunities for grantees to enhance and expand services to their clients," work group chair Doug Reynolds noted in approving the program.

forgiveness and two requests for funding. The committee deferred action on one of the forgiveness requests and recommended that the other request be granted in the amount of $2,788.88 contingent on repayment of $7,211.12. The committee also recommended granting two funding requests for LRAP loans in the amount of $10,000 each based on the special circumstances involving each applicant.

The Board approved all of the Committee's recommendations.

2026 Goldstein - Van Nortwick Award for Excellence

Maria C. Gonzalez reported on the 2026 Goldstein-Van Nortwick Award for Excellence Committee's report and recommendation. The award committee, chaired by Maria Henderson, former FFLA president and wife of Judge Van Nortwick, selected the following projects to be recognized with the award:

- Access to Justice in Action: The Florida Tenant Eviction Answer Form (Coast to Coast Legal Aid South Florida, Florida Legal Services, Legal Services of Greater Miami, Legal Services of North Florida and Three Rivers Legal Services) - Winner (tie)
- Palm Lake Mobile Home Park Eviction Defense Project

(Community Justice Project & Legal Services of Greater Miami) - Winner (tie)

The Awards Committee, along with the Grants Committee, respectfully requested that the Board ratify the selections, direct staff to create two co-winner awards, and distribute the total prize money allocated for this year's awards in a pro-rated amount amongst the proposed co-winners.

The Board voted and approved the recommendations.

President appoints work group for banking RFP process

At staff's request, President Sybesma appointed a work group to commence an RFP process regarding FFLA's primary operating banking/depository services. The five persons appointed are Judge Paetra Brownlee, Ian Comisky, Joe Kadow, Patrick Montoya and Jim Schwarz.

Next Meeting

The board's next scheduled meeting will be in conjunction with The Florida Bar's Annual Convention in Orlando, Fla., in June. The specific date and time will be shared as soon as they are established by the convention's event coordinator.

47 Civil Legal Aid Summer Fellows placed for 2026

FFLA will fund 47 Civil Legal Aid Summer Fellowships in 2026. The program, through which law students spend 10 weeks working at a legal aid grantee organization, provides a $9,000 stipend to each fellow, in addition to extra funds to grantees to cover payroll taxes.

The Florida Bar Family Law Section made a donation of $59,400 to provide funding for six fellows working in family law programs. One-hundred and seven students from 17 law schools applied.

More than 450 law students have completed summer fellowships since the program was established in 1995. Many have gone on to careers in legal aid, including four of last year's summer fellows who now work for FFLA grantee organizations.

Reflections from 2025 Summer Fellows

"I was given hands on work. I completed tasks to assist our clients and worked directly with attorneys that answered any and every question I asked. My supervisor provided consistent and lengthy feedback on documents I drafted. She provided constructive criticism on tasks that I did not understand."

"The environment was extremely supportive and nurturing. I got to learn a lot and was guided with respect."

"I developed client interviewing, legal drafting, and research skills. Because I wish to pursue a field of law that is heavy client interaction, the opportunity to interview and interact with clients was very beneficial."

FFLA is currently funding eight Children's Legal Services grants that address the needs of children in the dependency system, child victims of abuse, abandonment and neglect, children denied access to necessary medical services, children who have been trafficked and children with severe disabilities.

Last year, grantee organizations served 3,832 clients, a 10 percent increase over the previous year. More than $4.6 million in judgements, fees, awards and other benefits were obtained for clients.
